Oklahoma Legislators Plan

MAY CALL IN U. S.

Extends Martial Law to
Muskogee County in Drive
Against Klan

Oklahoma City, Sept. 18.—A clash between members of the state legislature and governor J. C. Walton over martial law was imminent today.

Despite the governor's warning that he will jail any legislators who attempt to convene themselves in extraordinary session, the movement for an out and out test of the executive's authority took definite form.

EXTENDS MARTIAL LAW
Oklahoma City, Sept. 18.—Extension of absolute martial law to Muskogee county, one of the most important centers in the eastern half of Oklahoma, moved today as Gov. Walton's military maneuvers against the Ku Klux Klan have already in number of towns the entire state.

"It is regrettable," said the governor in a telegram to the Muskogee Phoenix, "if any secret agent has reported your community is dominated and controlled by an organization that would usurp all the powers of the civil authorities and courts in lieu of which citizens both innocent and guilty are summarily seized upon, maimed, beaten, and believed in some cases, murdered or flogged, I am afraid that in order to clear up your situation we will have to place your county under complete and absolute martial law."

FEDERAL RULE?
Tulsa, Sept. 18.—The suggestion that Federal government might be called upon to enforce a Republican form of government in Oklahoma guaranteed in Article 4 of the Constitution of the United States, was made in a statement issued today by State Senator Joseph Looney, judge advocate of the state military force, in investigating flagging in Tulsa county. Capt. Looney made it plain that he expressed his personal opinion.

DEPRIVED OF HOLIDAY
Okla. City, Sept. 18.—Thousands of farmers and dwellers in rural communities who make "fair week" their only holiday of the year will be deprived of their favorite diversion if the governor's threat is carried out. Not only this Ralph E. Smith, secretary of the local fair association, says the financial losses will amount to hundreds of thousands of dollars.

The military courts in Oklahoma City today made an investigation of masked activities here and other parts which is expected in some quarters to lead to demand for records and other data at state headquarters here of the Ku Klux Klan. Gov. Walton in his declaration of state wide martial law, declared that "head and foot" of the organizations was in Oklahoma City and that in order to stamp out the organization it is necessary to stamp out its source.

Six 1,000 Mark
Stamps to Send
German Letters

New York, Sept. 18.—In the days before the war Germany, conforming to the standard practice of international mail transmission, could send a letter to New York, for instance, for the customary blue stamp of 20 pfennings, one-half of a mark, or approximately 5 cents.

Letters are now coming to New York from Berlin bearing six one thousand mark postage stamps. At the old rate of exchange these stamps would have cost $1,500, and based on marks, the rate is 30,000 times greater than it was before the war.

Sweetser Wins

Chicago, Sept. 18.—Jessie Sweetser of New York City, defending champion today won his third round in the amateur golf championship by defeating Albert Seckel of Chicago, formerly intercollegiate champion, 10 and 9.

NORTH DAKOTA CLAIMS WORLD'S CHAMPION WOLF HUNTER - HAS ALMOST 10,000 TO HIS CREDIT

By NEA Service
Adam Lesmeister, rotund and good-natured, believes himself to be the champion wolf hunter of the world—with 8343 to his credit. No one rises in the northwest to dispute his claim, either.

Lesmeister started what to him is both a sport and business back in 1889. He has collected nearly $27,000 in bounty, money paid hunters for killing the natural enemies of ranchers.

The champion came to his calling naturally. His father, a native of Russia, hunted wolves near Odessa. Twenty-five years ago, the family moved to North Dakota.

Here Lesmeister gained fame. He boasts he never shot a wolf in his life. His dogs do the work, after he picks the place for them to hunt.

Many "close calls" have been the lot of the hunter. Once he went into a wolf den after a litter. There he encountered a mother wolf. With his club he pinned her against the back of the cave and then clamped his hands over her jaw until others dug him out.

Coyotes, or prairie wolves, have been his main victims. He has no respect for them. Later their bunk car produced five additional guns. The men were taken before a justice at Medora, pleaded guilty to hunting out of season, also with violating the hunting laws which prohibit any unauthorized person from owning or using or having in their possession a firearm of any character. The nine guns were confiscated and turned over to the state game warden. The men paid fines of $147.80 each.

Honolulu, Sept. 18.—Details of the great Japanese earthquake disaster which wrecked the two leading cities in Japan, Tokyo and Yokohama, have been received by a reporter from the Japanese Advertiser, and made in a statement issued today by State Senator Joseph Looney, judge advocate of the state military force, in investigating flagging in Tulsa county. Capt. Looney made it plain that he expressed his personal opinion.

A reporter from the Japanese Advertiser said that he was in the newspaper office when there came a dull rumbling noise followed by the severe shaking of the building, toppling of book cases, and tables overturned, blocking the floors. He jumped from a window 15 feet to the street, just escaping an avalanche of brick. He stayed at the home of one of his friends who saw his wife and child burned to death. He said that people pleaded and begged for help but to no avail. Other refugees abroad told of the destruction in Yokohama grim humor occasionally blended with the tragic in the telling of experiences.

In the Grand hotel of Yokohama a woman was taking a bath on the fourth floor, when the floor collapsed and she fell through to the third floor landing unhindered in front of a male guest who when he recovered from his astonishment, gave her his coat. Many other women were forced to flee with almost no clothing. The refugees described many gruesome sights which they had witnessed.

The special election for the purpose of authorizing the issuing of $235,000 in bonds to cover the cost of completing the new municipal water plant, which was to have been held on October 6, was last night postponed until October 13 by the City Commission in its regular meeting upon the advice of City Attorney C. Youthful Forgers Brought to Court

St. Paul, Sept. 18.—Three youthful forgers, two boys 13 and 14 years old, and a girl 12, were brought into general court yesterday charged with having passed four checks totaling $51 since they began operations a week ago.

The case was continued until next Saturday.

Walter, the elder boy, was the master mind of the gang; Lester was the penman, and Mildred, the outside worker. The children passed the first check to get money to go to the state fair.

A check for $16 was drawn up. Mildred then called a drug store on the telephone and said: "This is Mrs. Johnson. Can we cash a small check for me if I send my little girl over?" The druggist assured her he could, according to the story, and Mildred went, cashed the check and made a small purchase. Mildred was given a doll and the boys spent the rest of the $16. They cashed the other three checks in butcher shops in the same manner, it was said.

3,065 Cases Settled Outside of
Court by This Means by
Pennsylvania Road

APPEAL POSSIBLE

Chicago, Sept. 18.—Satisfactory settlements were reached in a large majority of the cases of grievances and controversial questions arising under the employee representation plan of the Pennsylvania railroad system for the first half of 1923. This was accomplished at conferences between the local officers and representatives of the employees without recourse to any higher authority, according to a report made by the Northwestern Region headquarters of the system.

"During this period a total of 3,065 cases were taken up with officers below division superintendents," the report says. "Although appeal is provided for to superintendents, general superintendents, general managers, and finally to a joint reviewing committee, actually representative of management and employees, the number of cases carried to the general manager totaled 233 and those reaching the reviewing committee, 84."

"Of the controversial questions taken up originally or on appeal with the local officers, superintendents, general superintendents and general managers, almost half were adjusted or compromised in favor of employees. Of cases appealed to the reviewing committee, about half were decided in favor of the management."

The Pennsylvania plan was formulated and established by joint action of the management and employees about two and one-half years ago. The report concludes that under its operation local settlement of disputes has reached a new high level of success.

Give Prince Royal Welcome

High River, Alta., Sept. 18.—Cowboys, ranchers and townspeople of the High River district accorded the Prince of Wales a royal welcome when his special train arrived late Sunday night.

For the first time since his arrival in Canada the prince walked from the station to the main street accompanied by either secret service men or police. As the prince reached the street, David Bear's Paw and Red Cloud, minor chiefs of the Stony Indians, from the Morley reservation, were waiting. When the prince drew abreast of them, Bear's Paw stood erect and in perfect English said: "Greetings, Chief Morning Star—your brothers of the Stonies salute you."

The prince, apparently nonplussed for a moment for the correct way to return the greetings, hesitated, then, gravely proffered his hand and said: "Morning Star is proud to greet his brothers."

Those who overheard the conversation applauded heartily and no one was more pleased than the Indians. The prince then proceeded to his ranch by automobile.

Is Killed

Bartlesville, Okla., Sept. 18.—Several thousand persons crowded through an undertaking parlor here Sunday for a glimpse at the mortal remains of Oklahoma's notorious bandit, Al Spencer, who fell in open battle with a posse 10 miles north of Bartlesville Saturday night. Three bullets in the right breast from members of the posse killed the $10,000 fugitive bandit instantly.

Spencer began hostilities when he leveled his rifle and fired at six pursuing officers, led by Alva McDonald, United States marshal for western Oklahoma.

The bullet missed. It was Spencer's answer to a command from McDonald to halt. Every member of the posse fired in return. Spencer pitched forward into soft mud. Three of the bullets had found their mark.

Concealed within the old overalls and yellow shirt which Spencer wore were $10,000 in bonds, according to Marshal McDonald, after members of the posse had searched their long-sought victim.

Local Organizations to Have Charge of Programs in Their Districts

Chicago, Sept. 18.—This week is being observed as "Constitution Week" throughout the United States, a week set aside by the Citizenship Committee of the American Bar Association for study of all phases of the national constitution.

Plans for the week were started several months ago and before made public had been submitted and received the endorsement of many government officials and leaders in public life.

The main purpose of the program is to "re-establish the constitution of the United States and the principles and ideals of our government in the minds and hearts of the people," according to the citizenship committee. Much was left to the local organizations, which will be in charge of the programs in their respective communities, the bar association committee simply giving a general outline.

Co-operation of every organization interested in civic activities was sought, and in many instances has been promised. Indiana reported plans for discussing the constitution at the fall county school teachers' institutes, thus reaching approximately 25,000 school teachers.

In some communities the American Legion has agreed to take the initiative. In others such organizations as the Veterans of Foreign Wars, Daughters of the American Revolution, Parent-Teachers associations, Sons of the American Revolution, Women's Federated Clubs, Council of Jewish Women, Masonic Service Association of the United States, Knights of Columbus, and Boy Scouts. The program for the schools will include setting aside available assembly periods at which some lawyer or person well versed in the constitution and its history will speak.

Would Not Start

Cleveland, Minn., Sept. 18.—A bandit gang paralyzed this village today, wrecked the vault of the First State bank, and escaped in a stolen automobile with cash and bonds estimated at between $14,000 and $18,000.

For more than an hour and a half they held the town in a reign of fear, firing a number of shots to intimidate the more venturesome, while they shattered the vault and safe doors with six shots. With their loot in a sack they fled the town in a stolen automobile when their own would not start, heading south and then west toward Mankato. Severed telephone wires prevented notification immediately.

BANDITS ENTER
It was about 1:15 p. m. when the bandits entered the town, numbering five or six according to persons who caught a glimpse of them. Their first precaution was to cut all telephone wires leading out of the town. Going to the First State Bank they forced entrance in a door which was open when they came to the vault set off a burglar alarm which aroused the villagers, numbering 400 residents. Only two of the bandits worked inside the bank, for along the street three or four lookouts had been posted, firing in to the air at the showing of any curiosity by the people.

Bugs, garage man, who lived only 200 feet from the bank, heard the burglar alarm and decided to investigate. Just as he opened the door of his home, he was met with the command "step out, name inside, or I'll blow your brains out." Others did not investigate but after the robbers had fired 8 or 10 shots into the air the unanimous inclination was to stay in the homes. When the robbers were out of the town the more venturesome ventured out.

H. E. Flowers, president of the bank, is in Canada looking after farming interests, and his son estimated the cash at from $3500 to $3700. Both the bonds were negotiable and some registered, he said.

FIX LOSS
Berkeley, Sept. 18.—More than 1,000 homes were destroyed with a property loss of $8,000,000 in the fire which devastated the northeast residential section of Berkeley today, according to a survey of city authority, J. S. Squire.

Berkeley, Cal., Sept. 18.—On the wings of a dry hot wind that swept furiously from the land above San Francisco bay leaped down the valley into Berkeley, yesterday afternoon and for a time gnawed its way unchecked toward the heart of the college town. It burned 35 residential blocks caused damages of $10,000,000 leaving 2,400 homeless before it was brought under control. Early last evening no reports of death or serious injuries had been authoritatively reported. Many persons were slightly injured.

Berkeley, the home of the University of California, situated across the bay from San Francisco, today faced the biggest reconstruction task of its history, the fire sweeping through the prosperous and thickly settled streets and boulevards, layed waste 600 buildings including residents of many wealthy and prominent citizens.

The fire began in a small brush fire of undetermined origin at the northeastern slope of the high ridge on the northern edge of the city. At 2 o'clock and the flames roared and swept into the residential district. In a few hours it swept 10 blocks and stubbornly defied the efforts of frantic householders, police and the fire department of Berkeley and other nearby towns to extinguish them.

Dynamite with which the fighters used to back fire on the northwest side served to stop the fire in that direction but it was not until the wind subsided at 7 o'clock that the fire was checked.

WEALTHY DISTRICT.

San Francisco, Sept. 18.—Berkeley, in Alameda county, across the bay from San Francisco, is the seat of the University of California, one of the largest and richest institutions of learning in the world. It has an enrollment of more than 10,000 students. While the university is supported by the state it has been enriched considerably by endowments. Berkeley was famous for its many beautiful homes, surrounded by spacious lawns and shrubbery. The city's population is approximately 60,000.

THREATENED BUSINESS.

At 4:30 p. m. columns of flames at Allston Way and Addison street gave foreboding that the entire Berkeley business district would go. Shattuck avenue merchants moved out their valuables. One of the streets of California a racing track was a line of flames as the fire spread for a last ditch fight. The streets and avenues of Berkeley were thronged with marchers carrying torches and banners. The fire was one of the worst in the city's history. The cause of the fire was a western supply. Batches of fire engines from Alameda and San Francisco arrived and added their lines to the Berkeley ones. Thousands of workmen helped their combined efforts saved the situation. All the streets were patrolled by firemen as the fire started and still out of commission in Berkeley.

He said that people pleaded and begged for help but of no avail. Other refugees aboard told of the destruction in Yokohama grim humor occasionally blended with the tragic in the telling of experiences.

In the Grand hotel of Yokohama a woman was taking a bath on the fourth floor, when the floor collapsed and she fell through to the third floor landing unhindered in front of a male guest who when he recovered from his astonishment, gave her his coat. Many other women were forced to flee with almost no clothing. The refugees described many gruesome sights which they had witnessed.

Sidewalks Ordered Put in in Eastern Part of City by Commission

The special election for the purpose of authorizing the issuing of $235,000 in bonds to cover the cost of completing the new municipal water plant, which was to have been held on October 6, was last night postponed until October 13 by the City Commission in its regular meeting upon the advice of City Attorney C. L. Young, who stated that some question of legality had arisen which necessitated this change.

A petition from land owners in the eastern part of the city was considered by the Commission and sidewalks were ordered put in on Eleventh and Twelfth streets between Avenues A and C.

Because of the absence of Commissioner French from the city the 1924 budget, which should have been considered at the City Commission meeting last night was held over until the next meeting or the commission next Monday.

Youthful Forgers Brought to Court

St. Paul, Sept. 18.—Three youthful forgers, two boys 13 and 14 years old, and a girl 12, were brought into general court yesterday charged with having passed four checks totaling $51 since they began operations a week ago.

The case was continued until next Saturday.

Walter, the elder boy, was the master mind of the gang; Lester was the penman, and Mildred, the outside worker. The children passed the first check to get money to go to the state fair.

A check for $16 was drawn up. Mildred then called a drug store on the telephone and said: "This is Mrs. Johnson. Can you cash a small check for me? I send my little girl over." The druggist assured her he could, according to the story, and Mildred went, cashed the check and made a small purchase. Mildred was given a doll and the boys spent the rest of the $16. They cashed the other three checks in butcher shops in the same manner, it was said.

Fine Men For Out Of Season Hunting

Beach, N. D., Sept. 18.—Four Italian railroad section hands were rounded up by game wardens when they were caught hunting in the fields for grouse with dead birds in their possession. Later their bunk car produced five additional guns. The men were taken before a justice at Medora, pleaded guilty to hunting out of season, also with violating the hunting laws which prohibit any unauthorized person from owning or using or having in their possession a firearm of any character. The nine guns were confiscated and turned over to the state game warden. The men paid fines of $147.80 each.

ARBITRATION SETTLES MANY R. R. DISPUTES

3,066 Cases Settled Outside of
Court by This Means by
Pennsylvania Road

APPEAL POSSIBLE

Chicago, Sept. 18.—Satisfactory settlements were reached in a large majority of the cases of grievances and controversial questions arising under the employee representation plan of the Pennsylvania railroad system for the first half of 1923. This was accomplished at conferences between the local officers and representatives of the employees without recourse to any higher authority, according to a report made by the Northwestern Region headquarters of the system.

"During the period a total of 3,066 cases were taken up with officers below division superintendents," the report says. "Although appeal is provided for to superintendents, general superintendents, general managers, and finally to a joint reviewing committee equally representative of management and employee, the number of cases carried to the general manager totaled 235 and those reaching the reviewing committee, 84."

"Of the controversial questions taken up originally or on appeal with the local officers, superintendents, general superintendents and general managers, almost half were adjusted by the first half of 1923. The report concludes that under its operation local settlement of disputes has reached a new high level of success."

Give Prince
Royal Welcome

High River, Alta., Sept. 18.—Cowboys, ranchers and townspeople of the High River district accorded the Prince of Wales a royal welcome when his special train arrived late Sunday night.

For the first time since his arrival in Canada the prince walked from the station to the main street unaccompanied by either secret service men or police. As the prince reached the street, David Beasley, Paw and Red Cloud, minor chiefs of the Stoney Indians, from the Morley reservation, were waiting. When the prince drew abreast of them, Beasley, Paw stood erect and in perfect English said: "Greetings, Chief Morning Star—your brothers of the Stoney salute you."

The prince, apparently nonplussed for a moment for the correct way to return the greetings, hesitated, then, gravely proffered his hand and said: "Morning, Star is proud to greet his brothers."

Those who overheard the conversation applauded heartily and no one was more pleased than the Indians. The prince then proceeded to his ranch by automobile.

TERROR REIGNED

Appropriated Automobile of Citizens when Their's
Would Not Start

Cleveland, Minn., Sept. 18.—A bandits gang paralyzed this village today, wrecked the vault of the First State bank, and escaped in a stolen automobile with cash and bonds estimated at between $14,000 and $18,000.

For more than an hour and a half they held the town in a reign of fear, firing a number of shots to intimidate the more venturesome, while they shattered the vault and safe doors with six shots. With their loot in a sack they fled the town in a stolen automobile when their own car would not start, heading south and then west toward Mankato. Severed telephone wires prevented notification immediately.

BANDITS ENTER
It was about 1:15 p. m. when the bandits entered the town, numbering five or six according to persons who caught a glimpse of them. Their first precaution was to cut all telephone wires leading out of the local exchange. Going to the First State Bank they forced entrance in a door and window, and when they came to the vault set off a burglar alarm which aroused the villagers, numbering 400 residents. Only two of the bandits worked inside the bank, for along the street three or four lookouts had been posted, firing into the air at the showing of any curiosity by the people.

Bugg, garage man, who lived only 200 feet from the bank, heard the burglar alarm and decided to investigate. Just as he opened the door of his home, he was met with the command "keep your nose inside or I'll blow your brains out." Others did not investigate but after the robbers had fired 8 or 10 shots into the air the unanimous inclination was to stay in the homes. When the robbers were out of the town the more venturesome ventured out.

H. H. Flowers, president of the bank, is in Canada looking after farming interests, and his son estimated the cash at from $3500 to $3700. Both the bonds were negotiable and some registered, he said.

Controversy Over Wage Cut

Williston, Sept. 18.—Members of the local union of U. M. W. of A. went on strike last Monday morning at 8:00 a. m. at the government mine north of this city. It is reported that the controversy is over a cut in wages which was to have taken place on that day.

The decrease in the wage scale amounts to $1.50 per day and on contract work the miners will be paid 14 cents per ton less than previously, according to the new scale set. The cut amounts to approximately a 15 percent reduction for the men. No miners have been replaced and it is said that the local union is taking the matter up with officials at Washington.

FIX LOSS

Berkeley, Sept. 18.—More than 1,000 homes were destroyed with a property loss of $8,000,000 in the fire which devastated the northeast residential section of Berkeley today, according to a survey of city authority, J. S. Squirer.

Berkeley, Cal., Sept. 18.—On the wings of a dry hot wind that swept furiously from the land a brush fire started at Contra Costa county hills above San Francisco bay leaped down the valley into Berkeley, yesterday afternoon and for a time gnawed its way unchecked toward the heart of the college town. It burned 35 residential blocks caused damages of $10,000,000 leaving 2,400 homeless before it was brought under control. Early last evening no reports of death or serious injuries had been authoritatively reported. Many persons were slightly injured.

Berkeley, the home of the University of California, situated across the bay from San Francisco, today faced the biggest reconstruction task of its history, the fire sweeping through the prosperous and thickly settled streets and boulevards, layed waste 600 buildings including residents of many wealthy and prominent citizens.

The fire began in a small brush fire of undetermined origin at the northeastern slope of the high ridge on the northern edge of the city at 2 o'clock and the flames roared and swept into the residential district. In a few hours it swept 10 blocks and stubbornly defied the efforts of frantic householders, police and the fire department of Berkeley and other nearby towns to extinguish them.

Dynamite with which the fighters used to back fire on the northwest side served to stop the fire in that direction but it was not until the wind subsided at 7 o'clock that the fire was checked.

WEALTHY DISTRICT.
San Francisco, Sept. 18.—Berkeley, in Alameda county, across the bay from San Francisco, is the seat of the University of California, one of the largest and richest institutions of learning in the world. It has an enrollment of more than 10,000 students. While the university is supported by the state it has been enriched considerably by endowments. Berkeley was famous for its many beautiful homes, surrounded by spacious lawns and shrubbery. The city's population is approximately 60,000.

THREATENED BUSINESS.
At 4:30 vast columns of flames at Allison Way and Addison street gave forebodings that the entire Berkeley business district would go. Shattuck avenue merchants moved out their valuables. Officials of the University of California directly opposite the line of flames, prepared for a last ditch fight. The streets and avenues of Berkeley were thronged with marchers leaving their homes.

The direction of the wind was one cause. The vicious northwester became a westerly squall. Batteries of fire engines from Alameda, Oakland and San Francisco arrived and added their lines to the Berkeley ones. Thousands of workmen helped. Their combined efforts saved the situation. All the street car lines were paralyzed as soon as the fire started and are still out of commission in Berkeley.

PAY STATE CONTROL OF ROADS HELD BEST SYSTEM

Extension of State Highway
Commissioner Control Seen
In Middle West

PEOPLE GLAD TO PAY

Indiana's Experience Is That
Good Roads Mean Economy
To Motorist, Farmers

Indianapolis, Ind., Sept. 17.—State highway commission control of highways has come to stay in Indiana. Centralized control of the road system in the state body not only is firmly imbedded in the state laws, but there is an overwhelming sentiment in favor of such control; people demand that it be extended.

The state highway commission law was enacted in Indiana only four years ago after a great legislative battle, but there has been no fight, as was waged in the North Dakota legislature last winter to abolish the commission. Instead each succeeding legislature, with the majority of members either farmers or depending upon the votes of farmers for political advancement, have amended and extended the law until officials of the state claim that this policy means economy in road building, since the interest charge on a huge bond issue is avoided; it prevents the state from building a system that cannot be maintained adequately with the finances available, and an orderly extension of the highways systems gives opportunity to progress in road building.

While at first the proposition that the state highway commission should maintain state highways was looked upon with disfavor, the commission has done so well in maintaining roads that there is a readiness on all sides to provide adequate funds for the commission to carry on its maintenance program.

The highway system contemplates main market highways connecting all parts of the state, all to be paved ultimately, and a system of state-built and state-maintained highways connecting every county seat. Cement is used chiefly in paving, although in brick-paving sections of the state some brick roads have been laid. All state highway pavement is 20 feet wide, with gravel "shoulders" on either side. Grade crossings and bad hills are eliminated to a large extent.

Few gravel highways have been built by the state commission. It has, however, taken over many gravel highways and has improved them and is maintaining them. Surplus army trucks are used to a great degree in the maintenance work. Some of the gravel highways which are a part of trans-continental or other trails of importance are dragged each day, chuck-holes are kept filled up and loose gravel used as needed. Travel at 40 to 50 miles an hour is accomplished on such highways without discomfort or danger. It is the work of the highway commission in maintaining these good roads as well under heavy traffic that has won support for the state unit of maintenance.

Funds for the state highway commission are derived from a small general property tax, a 2-cent-a-gallon gasoline tax provided by the last legislature and the motor vehicle tax. Part of the gasoline tax goes to county maintenance, while the fees go into the state fund. A county unit of control of practically all highways not included in the state system is provided, the old township system disappearing almost entirely. There is no complaint on the gasoline tax. Motorists believe that it is economy for them to be able to travel over paved or well-maintained gravel roads. There is, too, the advantage which the state has, proportionately greater in North Dakota—the tourist pays the gasoline tax and thereby helps to keep up the roads he uses in traveling across the country.

Motorists demand good roads first for pleasure and they, too, have become convinced that the best roads are the most economical. The only kind of business which is generally held to be benefited to a marked degree by the roads program is farming. Economy in hauling grain and livestock to market and ability to beat high freight rates by use of individually owned trucks or truck lines have been factors which have caused farmers throughout the state to strongly support the good roads program.

Good roads have increased travel within the state and have created a new state pride. Because of the ease of making automobile trips many persons have adopted the slogan of "see you—our state first," and many sections formerly known as "out of the way" now are visited by thousands. Land values frequently have been increased by the building of a state highway.

All state highway commission roads are marked by the commission, as the North Dakota highway commission is now planning to do. All other signs upon the highway right-of-way are removed.

Activity in state highway building in Indiana is but typical of other middlewestern states. Travel by paved road from Indianapolis to Washington and New York now is possible. There is no more to suggest an end to the good roads movement in this state.

COMMUNISTS ORGANIZED ON MOUNTAIN TOP

Communist Party of America
Founded in Secrecy; Now
Acts Openly

1,000,000 MEMBERS

Has Mushroomed All Over
United States and Canada
Since Start

New York, Sept. 17.—A description purporting to show that the Communist Party of America was founded amid dramatic secrecy atop a mountain in the Catskills 28 months ago, and has mushroomed over the United States and Canada, is contained in the fifth of a series of articles made public today by the United Mine Workers of America, charging a movement to bring America under the banner of the Moscow communists.

At first, the article asserted, the party was an "underground" organization, functioning in secrecy. Today, according to the miners, it has a membership, direct and auxiliary, of 1,000,000, with interlocking directorates binding it to 45 national organizations and 200 locals, and working in the open.

Prior to May, 1921 the Communist International was represented as having become so important through federal prosecution and deportation of members that formation of an "underground" society was determined upon.

And so, having chosen one of the most historically primitive spots in the East as a setting, "70 Communist leaders, representing the two factions of the Communist party and the United Communist party, gathered in the ancient hotel on the top of Overlook Mountain on the morning of May 15, 1921, to compose their differences and unite in a single group, to be known as the Communist Party of America," said the article.

"This assembly was not only at the command of Lenin and Zinoviev, but it was accompanied with the threat that if the factional differences were not put aside and a united front presented for invading the labor unions of the United States, no more money would be forthcoming from Moscow for financing the revolutionary movement in this country."

Moscow had contributed money to both of these factions, but had decided that their hostility to each other was neutralizing the results of their work.

A personal emissary of Lenin and Zinoviev was alleged to have dominated the session.

"Silent and return, this emissary met the 70 delegates near Kingston, N. Y.," the narrative continued. "They were conveyed to the foot of Overlook mountain in automobiles. Guards saluted them along the roads. For more than two weeks these guards had been stationed in the vicinity of Fort Montgomery, Tannersville, Saugerties and Kingston."

"Thus, according to the article, was born the Communist Party of America, and 'the Central Executive Committee' of the new party was chosen from among the prime leaders of the Communist organizations throughout the country. These committee members were alleged to have had places on the central executive committee of the workers party when it later was founded."

"Mass action by the workers; seizure of labor unions and converting them into militant enterprises; boring from within the American Federation of Labor, and, in particular, the United Mine Workers of America," was the platform adopted, declares the article.

JAPAN QUAKE WARNING OF CATAclysms

Geologist Believes Map of World Is To Be Changed

FORECASTS DISASTERS

Earth Will Shift on Axis,
With New North and South Poles

By Bob Dorman
NEA Service Staff Writer

(Copyright, 1928, NEA Service)
Philadelphia, Sept. 17.—The Japanese earthquake, a warning of cataclysms that will remodel the earth.

Is the map of the world to be changed, whole continents wiped out and new continents created in a Second Deluge?

Dr. Milton A. Nobles, geologist and student of earthquake and volcanic phenomena, thinks so.

More than a year ago, in a New York newspaper, he predicted a series of disasters in a "death belt" he traced through Italy, Dalmatia, Asia Minor, Persia, India, Japan and Siberia—the exact spots where most of the big earthquakes and volcanic eruptions of the year have occurred!

And now Dr. Nobles sees these events—within 10 years:

Oceans engulfing all Europe, half of Asia, part of Africa, and part of North America.

New lands rising to double the area of the western hemisphere in one great American continent and joining Australia and New Zealand in a continent three times their present size.

Shifting of the earth on its axis, with a new North Pole in Siberia, east of the Ural mountains, and a new South Pole in the South Pacific ocean.

A new equator with the United States so close that the all-year mildness of Florida will be the whole nation's temperature.

New seacoasts in Atlantic and Pacific, making New York, Boston, New Orleans, San Francisco and other ports inland cities.

A transformation of the Gulf of Mexico into an inland sea the size of Texas, and Central America and the West Indies amalgamated in the new American continent 5000 miles wide.

"Science will laugh, I suppose," says Dr. Nobles. "Science laughed in March, 1922, at my theories. Yet earthquakes, volcanic eruptions and tidal waves have occurred the past year precisely in the zone I indicated. Compared to what I am convinced is coming, the Japanese disaster is a minor one."

Dr. Nobles makes this specific forecast for the immediate future: "Italy will probably suffer next a terrific catastrophe within 30 days."

Ten years is the time he sets for a world robot of the sea.

"Look at the map," he says. "In the zone of black—the death belt—are located the world's active volcanoes. There is a connection between them, proved by the fact that when Mt. Etna erupts in Italy the lava sinks in Mt. Hecla's crater in Iceland."

"Continual readjustment of the earth's crust will open a chasm beneath the sea that will connect with the fires beneath the surface in this doomed belt."

"This will cause the formation of

Explosion in Plant
Stops Generation
Of Gas For 3 Hours

Bismarck residents were without gas this morning from about 10 o'clock until about 1 o'clock this afternoon as a result of an explosion in the gas plant which put the "scrubbers," machine used in the generation of gas out of commission, for about three hours.

The cause of the explosion had not been learned at noon today. Workmen at the gas plant stated that the trouble was being investigated.

General Frank H. Hines, Director of the U. S. Veterans' Bureau, was unable to be present, and was represented by C. D. Hibbard, Manager of the Bureau in the tenth district comprising the states of Minnesota, North Dakota, South Dakota, and Montana.

Before a notable gathering addressed were made by Ludwig Roe, State Legion Commander and Mrs. George Osborne, State Auxiliary President; Kenneth Law, State Commander of the Disabled American Veterans; Mrs. Fred Becker, President of the Disabled American Veterans Auxiliary and Harry Walsh, representing the National Organization of the Disabled American Veterans; George A. Ferguson, State Commander of the Veterans of Foreign Wars; Archie Vernon, Post Commander of the American Legion; Congressman Harold Knutson of St. Paul; and C. D. Hibbard of the U. S. Veterans' Bureau. The Rev. Joseph Barnett of St. Paul, State Legion Chaplain, delivered the invocation.

This hospital is the first government built institution for disabled soldiers in the tenth district of the U. S. Veterans' Bureau and will consist of a group of twelve buildings embodying the most up-to-date scientific ideas in hospital construction. Authorities have named the St. Cloud hospital one of the noteworthy medical structures in the country.

The buildings will be of uniform construction, with concrete foundations, and brick walls, crisscrossed with steel reinforcement and fire proof throughout. The inside walls will be smooth plaster and tile. The windows will have steel sashes and in the wards where the most disturbed cases are treated the panes of glass will be small insuring greater safety to the patients without the appearance of confining them.

The hospital proper will be fully equipped with X-ray machines, hydrotherapy and electro-therapy devices. There will be one main operating room with a smaller one for minor cases, and a special one for ear, eye, nose and throat cases.

Four buildings constitute the hospital group proper. They are the main building, the recreation ward building, the disturbed patient building, and the substructure building.

The main building is about 300 feet across the front, with several wings. It will house the operating rooms, dental clinic, chemical and pathological laboratories, as well as wards and private rooms for patients. The basement will contain the store rooms, morgue, and an incinerating plant. While the hospital is intended for mental cases it has several isolated wards in which tubercular cases can be treated in emergencies.

The re-education or ward building is almost as large as the main building, consisting wholly of wards and private rooms for patients.

There is a special building for disturbed cases with a capacity for 35 cases which are designed throughout to give special care to those who have a tendency to become violent.

The substructure building will contain the dining room and kitchen for the entire establishment. There are special "diet" kitchens in which meals can be prepared for those patients who are especially ill. The second floor will be used as quarters for the male attendants, while the basement will house the cold storage and refrigeration plants.

The four main buildings will be connected by several corridors. The remaining ones by underground tunnels.

Beside the buildings described there will be an auditorium with stage, a library, game rooms, canteen, tailor, shoe and barber shops, a garage fully equipped, a stable, mechanical shop, gas station, storehouse, disinfecting station with steam sterilizers, a nurse's home, quarters for medical officers and staff attendants, a power plant with 1500 horsepower. The hospital will be reached directly by a railroad track, will have its own water supply with a filtration plant, and fire protection. It will be in all respects modern and complete.

Cars Collide
Early Sunday;
Bound Hunting

An accident, in which no one was hurt, occurred about three o'clock Sunday when a party, in a Ford driven by Adolph Rist's bound for a hunting trip ran into a car, driven by Rev. C. F. Struts, at the corner of Rosser and Eighth streets.

According to members of the hunting party they were bound south on Eighth street about three o'clock Sunday morning, when the car driven by Rev. Struts appeared at the corner of Rosser Street. Rev. Struts had just started from his home on Rosser street, bound for Lehr, where he was to preach and had not turned on his lights. The hunting party was unable to stop short enough after seeing the car and before they were able to come to a complete stop they had hit the Struts car.

Neither car were badly damaged.

VETERANS HOSPITAL STARTED

Neuropsychiatric Hospital To Be Ready in About One
Year

AT ST. CLOUD

Corner-stone was Laid on September Fifth with Appropriate Exercises

The new million dollar hospital at St. Cloud, Minnesota for ex-service men who are suffering from neuropsychiatric diseases is expected to be ready to receive patients in about a year.

The corner-stone was laid on Wednesday, September 5, with appropriate ceremonies, which were presided over by Michael Murray.

General Frank H. Hines, Director of the U. S. Veterans' Bureau, was unable to be present, and was represented by C. D. Hibbard, Manager of the Bureau in the tenth district comprising the states of Minnesota, North Dakota, South Dakota, and Montana.

Before a notable gathering addressed were made by Ludwig Roe, State Legion Commander and Mrs. George Osborne, State Auxiliary President; Kenneth Law, State Commander of the Disabled American Veterans; Mrs. Fred Becker, President of the Disabled American Veterans Auxiliary and Harry Walsh, representing the National Organization of the Disabled American Veterans; George A. Ferguson, State Commander of the Veterans of Foreign Wars; Archie Vernon, Post Commander of the American Legion; Congressman Harold Knutson of St. Paul; and C. D. Hibbard of the U. S. Veterans' Bureau. The Rev. Joseph Barnett of St. Paul, State Legion Chaplain, delivered the invocation.

This hospital is the first government built institution for disabled soldiers in the tenth district of the U. S. Veterans' Bureau and will consist of a group of twelve buildings embodying the most up-to-date scientific ideas in hospital construction. Authorities have named the St. Cloud hospital one of the noteworthy medical structures in the country.

The buildings will be of uniform construction, with concrete foundations, and brick walls, crisscrossed with steel reinforcement and fire proof throughout. The inside walls will be smooth plaster and tile. The windows will have steel sashes and in the wards where the most disturbed cases are treated the panes of glass will be small insuring greater safety to the patients without the appearance of confining them.

The hospital proper will be fully equipped with X-ray machines, hydrotherapy and electro-therapy devices. There will be one main operating room with a smaller one for minor cases, and a special one for ear, eye, nose and throat cases.

Four buildings constitute the hospital group proper. They are the main building, the recreation ward building, the disturbed patient building, and the substructure building.

The main building is about 300 feet across the front, with several wings. It will house the operating rooms, dental clinic, chemical and pathological laboratories, as well as wards and private rooms for patients. The basement will contain the store rooms, morgue, and an incinerating plant. While the hospital is intended for mental cases it has several isolated wards in which tubercular cases can be treated in emergencies.

The re-education or ward building is almost as large as the main building, consisting wholly of wards and private rooms for patients.

There is a special building for disturbed cases with a capacity for 35 cases which are designed throughout to give special care to those who have a tendency to become violent.

The substructure building will contain the dining room and kitchen for the entire establishment. There are special "diet" kitchens in which meals can be prepared for those patients who are especially ill. The second floor will be used as quarters for the male attendants, while the basement will house the cold storage and refrigeration plants.

The four main buildings will be connected by several corridors. The remaining ones by underground tunnels.

Beside the buildings described there will be an auditorium with stage, a library, game rooms, canteen, tailor, shoe and barber shops, a garage fully equipped, a stable, mechanical shop, gas station, storehouse, disinfecting station with steam sterilizers, a nurse's home, quarters for medical officers and staff attendants, a power plant with 1500 horsepower. The hospital will be reached directly by a railroad track, will have its own water supply with a filtration plant, and fire protection. It will be in all respects modern and complete.

Cars Collide
Early Sunday;
Bound Hunting

An accident, in which no one was hurt, occurred about three o'clock Sunday when a party, in a Ford driven by Adolph Rist's bound for a hunting trip ran into a car, driven by Rev. C. F. Struts, at the corner of Rosser and Eighth streets.

According to members of the hunting party they were bound south on Eighth street about three o'clock Sunday morning, when the car driven by Rev. Struts appeared at the corner of Rosser Street. Rev. Struts had just started from his home on Rosser street, bound for Lehr, where he was to preach and had not turned on his lights. The hunting party was unable to stop short enough after seeing the car and before they were able to come to a complete stop they had hit the Struts car.

Neither car were badly damaged.

Explosion in Plant Stops Generation Of Gas For 3 Hours

Bismarck residents were without gas this morning from about 10 o'clock until about 1 o'clock this afternoon as a result of an explosion in the gas plant which put the "scrubbers," machine used in the generation of gas out of commission, for about three hours.

The cause of the explosion had not been learned at noon today. Workmen at the gas plant stated that the trouble was being investigated.

General Frank H. Hines, Director of the U. S. Veterans' Bureau, was unable to be present, and was represented by C. D. Hibbard, Manager of the Bureau in the tenth district comprising the states of Minnesota, North Dakota, South Dakota, and Montana.

THE STATE'S OLDEST NEWSPAPER
(Established 1873)

CONSTITUTION WEEK
North Dakota's constitution week fortunately is to be confined to expatiations upon the federal constitution rather than an attempt to excite inspiration and enthusiasm from the present state organic law sadly mutilated through a series of changes most of which have weakened rather than strengthened it. Under the political spree of the last few years, the North Dakota constitution has suffered changes that doubtless have caused some of the fathers of that document to shift positions in time honored graves and others who still walk with us to mark the ravages wrought by ballot.

Nothing could be more fitting than to rivet attention of the masses upon constitutional government. The trend has been away from respect for fixed institutions. Soap box orators have denounced the constitution and radicals everywhere are seeking to nullify the operation of our organic law through limiting the powers of courts to declare certain laws unconstitutional.

Under the direction of the American Bar Association constitution week is being fostered throughout the nation by those who believe that the American plan as conceived by the federal fathers is better than the methods proposed by the extreme school whose motto is to break down constitutional checks and balances and with them representative government, setting up as it were a tyranny of the minority.

There has grown up out of a disrespect for law generally, the familiar adage: "What is the constitution between friends." This week, if its promoters are successful, should awaken a greater respect for the constitution even though the eighteenth amendment has brought its operation closer home than before to many millions who never felt, as poignantly as now that the constitution does restrain minority desires presumably for the greater good of the majority.

As long as the prohibition amendment is part of the constitution, its recognition is as binding upon us all as other articles and amendments which guard the fundamental rights and privileges of American citizens.

By all means an earnest study of the constitution this week, but with it a preachment against ill advised and sudden tampering with the organic law to fit every vagary or whim. The present constitution can be amended as rapidly as is advisable, the nineteen amendments and their scope prove that. Those who clamor for direct amendment by ballot are not the friends and upholders of constitutional government. North Dakota's experience in amendment by that route has been anything but beneficial.

The sessions of the American Bar Association in Minneapolis recently deplored sudden and extreme changes at the behest of radicals and theorists and it is to combat this trend that constitutional week is dedicated.

ON THE AVIATION MAP
Through the cooperation of the Association of Commerce, Fort Lincoln may become an aviation station in the transcontinental flights. Yesterday an army aviator made this city one of his controls and the use of the fort for that purpose can be broadened.

Secretary Bradley of the association has been in close touch with these flights and has personally given aviators every assistance so that Bismarck will be known as a city which cooperates in these experiments to perfect the science of aviation.

There are few fields that afford a better landing than Fort Lincoln and the foresight in putting Bismarck on these air routes between coast points may work out more beneficially than appears on the surface now.

GENEROUS AMERICA
Probably the best knockout the pessimists can have who deplore the "inadequacies" of present times is the generous response of America to the call from Japan for relief in the hour of need. Within a few days the quota set by the Red Cross was passed and double would have been forthcoming had the necessity demanded.

There have been many articles in select magazines about the lack of soul in America and the absence of high purposes and noble impulses generally as an aftermath of the war. Greed and selfish individualism have been pictured as America's besetting sins, and then comes an example of charity and good will toward men that knocks these critics off their pedestals.

SYSTEM WRONG
A brick weighs quite a bit and should be manufactured as near as possible to the place where it is used in building. So something is radically wrong with our "system" when three million bricks a month are imported into New York City from foreign countries. That's what has been happening this year.

"Shortage of bricks" is a poor excuse. If we can't even make our own bricks, the outlook for American industry is rather sad when it comes to commodities requiring more intricate manufacturing skill.

MODERN CHANGES
The cable now cannot successfully compete with radio, due to the greater advantage of speed on the part of radio, and also to direct communication. This is said by Owen D. Young, chairman of General Electric Co. and Radio Corporation of America.

It's his natural viewpoint, considering his business connections, but it's logically true.

Later it will be discovered that the steam railroad, running on steel tracks, cannot compete with the airplane.

STRANGE REQUEST
A doctor in Texarkana, Texas, is buried in his $35,000 car of Russian sable furs. Such was his last request. It's an exception to the rule that we can't take our wealth to the grave with us.

The good doctor apparently expected cold weather on the other side of the River Styx.

EDITORIAL REVIEW

Comments reproduced in this column may or may not express the opinion of The Tribune. They are presented here in order that our readers may have both sides of important issues which are being discussed in the press of the day.

NORTH DAKOTA IS ALL RIGHT

A few years ago when there was an offering of North Dakota bonds they were looked upon as a drug in the market. There has been a change. During the past week a Minneapolis syndicate offered $1,600,000 in North Dakota bonds and within twenty-four hours all were sold. The fact shows that people have confidence in North Dakota and that the state has regained its former standing in the financial world.

There never was anything the matter with North Dakota, any more than there is with Minnesota or South Dakota, other than the circumstances that placed the administration of the state's affairs in the hands of a group of incompetents and theorists. There was never any question as to the physical ability of the state to back up its bonds and meet all payments, but there was a serious lack of confidence in the state administration. To Governor Nestos and his co-workers must be credited the regeneration of the state's financial credit. One feature that should not be overlooked when North Dakota's financial position is reviewed is that during the short period when it was dominated by the Nonpartisan League there was no advance in its hand values as there was in Iowa, Minnesota, South Dakota, and other states. Therefore, there has been no recession, but rather, progression in values. The bonded indebtedness of the state is comparatively small, much smaller than that of the average state. North Dakota has learned a lesson and it is not likely that its bonded indebtedness will ever be allowed to become so great as to be burdensome to its taxpayers. Therein may be found one reason why North Dakota's bonds were so quickly absorbed in the Minneapolis market. — Commercial West.

ADVENTURE OF THE TWINS

By Olive Roberts Barton

Mister Gallop, the cowboy fairy, stopped his pony suddenly and motioned to the Twins to do likewise. Then he put his finger over his lips and nodded toward a dead tree that hung crookedly over the mountain path where they were riding.

There sat Chatterbox Magpie in his gorgeous coat of black, white and red, acting like a bad school boy. For, although Chatterbox is a friend of both mountain folk and plains folk, the birds hate him. He treats them shamefully. And just now he was making fun of Misses Gadabout Grouse and her eight brown children.

"Ha, ha, ha! Ho, ho, ho!" laughed Chatterbox in his high, creaky voice. "Why doesn't your husband stay at home, Misses Grouse? It is because you have a bad disposition or just because you and your children are so ugly? Why, you're just a plain speckled brown, all of you, and when I look down from my perch I can hardly tell you are there. Ground birds, that's what you are! Ugh!"

"Why, we have a good reason for staying on the ground, Mister Magpie," answered Misses Grouse meekly. "It's because we can't fly so very well and, therefore, can't get out of the way of hawks or eagles, or any big bird that might chase us. We know we match the ground and that's why we stay close to it—so we'll be safe."

"Well, then, is it because you gad about so that Mister Grouse doesn't stay at home?" asked Chatterbox curiously. "Is that how you got your name?"

"Oh, no, sir!" said Misses Grouse. "It isn't my name, but my husband's name. I took his name when we were married. It's his name that is Gadabout, not mine. I only go around to get food for my family. But with him it's different."

"Ah, ha!" exclaimed Chatterbox quickly. "So that's it, is it? He is just a sporty fellow who won't stay at home and likes to keep bachelor's hall. Um h'm! I knew there was a scandal somewhere!"

"No, that's not it at all!" declared Misses Grouse, indignant at last. He has a good reason for leaving us here alone and going off by himself high in the mountains."

"I'll tell you tomorrow what the Twins heard he say then."

LETTER FROM BEATRICE GRIMSHAW TO LESLIE PRES-COTT

I wonder if you have seen the last "Filmland," my dear? It had a very interesting story in it about that young woman called Paula Perier, of whom I asked you in my last letter. She seems to have made quite a furor out in Hollywood.

Dick writes me that the girl has beauty, spirituality and intellect. He seems quite taken with her talent. It is a queer kind of life that Dick has been hurled into out there, Leslie. From what he writes me I can see that everyone is living up to his last ounce of nervous energy.

Dick's letters do not seem like Dick at all. I either don't go with Dick to "Les," as he calls it, or else persuade him to stay here. You see, he is getting all mixed up in his ideas. His thoughts and conclusions are as jerky as the sentences in his letters.

Sometimes, Leslie dear, I am very sorry that I either did not go with Dick to "Les," as he calls it, or else persuade him to stay here. You see, he is getting all mixed up in his ideas. His thoughts and conclusions are as jerky as the sentences in his letters.

Why is it, Leslie, that a loving woman, if she is called upon to do a question for her man, always waits until she knows what he wants to do and then tells him that is the thing for him? I thought at the time that my only objection to the whole scheme was the long, lonely three months I would have to spend before I could join Dick. I know now that in the back of my head was always a feeling that when the time came for me to join him, it would be like joining a stranger.

He has gone into a different world, a world where people think differently. Indeed their whole trend of action as well as thought is away from the prosaic and commonplace.

Perhaps you are saying, Leslie dear, that I am a little bit afraid to have my Dick out there among those pretty girls. We hear so much about this sex appeal. Even Dick has got the jargon of the screen and he writes me that this or that girl will not make a good picture actress, that she has no sex appeal.

Just what it is I do not know, but it seems to me that the word might be made synonymous with feminine personality. You know I have dreamed of that Dick cared for me because of my kind. I wonder if there is a personal magnetism that makes a greater appeal than does a clear mind and sympathetic spirit?

Oh, Leslie, Leslie, like poor Dick I am all mixed up.

Your loving, BEE.

SMART NEW JABOT DRAPES

COPYRIGHT BY M'CALL

JABOT draperies are featured on autumn models with this difference from the jabots of spring—they appear on one side of the bodice, falling from the shoulder, instead of directly in front. Pleated jabots are used on this clever tailored blouse with a yoke and dropped armholes. Pleated bell sleeves carry out the style idea. The little afternoon frock uses the same sort of drapery except that two jabots instead of one drape from the shoulder. The shoulder drapery on the other frock is cut in one with the dress and is followed naturally by the line of the drapery of the skirt. This is one of the most individual and graceful interpretations of the autumn styles.

CIRCULATE NEW LIBRARY BOOKS

Library Commission Places New Ones on Shelves For Use

A number of interesting new books have been placed on the shelves of the State Library Commission and are now ready for circulation. The name of the books and a brief description follows:

Gavitt, J. P.—Americans by Choice. A book which devotes itself to telling about those who have become Americans not by birth, but of their own free will and accord, by that process of voluntary adoption of a country, known as Naturalization.

Gjerstad, Knut—History of the Norwegian People in two Volumes. The history is clearly and admirably written giving the social and cultural development rather than a political history of Norway from earliest times to the present. It is interesting and has the added advantage of being based on first hand material.

O'Brien, Frederick—Mystic Isles of the South Seas. The book has the attraction of profuse and in some cases really beautiful photographic illustrations. The author has not only power of graphic description, but ever a more remarkable gift of narration. He is a prince among narrators.

Shay, Frank—Contemporary One-Act Plays of 1921. Twenty of the best one-act plays written by Americans that have been recently produced in little theaters are given here. There is a bibliography of the books of the past year about the theater.

Thomson, J. A.—Outline of Science. A series of four volumes, giving the essentials of present day science in a "plain story simply told," edited by Mr. Thomson, professor of natural history in the University of Aberdeen. The series is designed for the general reader, who lacks time and opportunity for special study but takes an intelligent interest in the progress of science. The editor maintains that technicalities, although clearly necessary for terse and precise scientific description can be reduced to a minimum without sacrificing accuracy when the object in view is to explain the gist of the matter. There are numerous half-tone and color plates.

Van Loon, Hendrick—Story of Man. The book attempts by text and picture to sketch for children the development of the human race and to make them "feel history." The author traces freely the important steps in the advances of civilization from prehistoric times to the present, bring out clearly the characteristics of different peoples and the peculiar quality of civilization in each successive period. The book is profusely illustrated with the author's own sketches and maps drawn for children and in accordance with their own ideas of art. An excellent historical reading list for children is included.

AT THE MOVIES

THE ELTINGE

Gloria Swanson's new Paramount picture "Bluebeard's 8th Wife," which will be shown at the Eltinge theater Wednesday and Thursday, is said to be one of the most powerful screen dramas produced by Paramount this season.

Miss Swanson has the role of Mona de Brise, a French girl whose parents are in financial difficulties. Their last straw is to marry Mona to a rich man, John Brandon, an American multi-millionaire, played by Huntley Gordon, is chosen as the intended husband. The marriage takes place and many thrilling incidents follow.

The climax of the picture is unique. The supporting cast is excellent and includes, among other prominent screen artists, Charles Greene, Paul Weigel and Robert Agnew.

CAPITOL

While of great interest to every one of us who ever married or thought of marriage (and who hasn't thought of marriage?), "Can a Woman Love Twice?" the Film Booking Office's photoplay starring Ethel Clayton, which comes to the Capitol theater on Wednesday, will be of particular interest to veterans of the late war and their women folks—especially the latter. For, while the picture as a whole is a dramatic treatment of a theme that finds a universal response, the women folks of former soldiers will have special opportunity to indulge in the favorite feminine pastime of "what might have been," inasmuch as the story concerns a girl-wife and mother whose husband is killed in France.

THE STATE'S OLDEST NEWSPAPER
(Established 1873)

CONSTITUTION WEEK
North Dakota's constitution week fortunately is to be confined to expatiations upon the federal constitution rather than an attempt to excite inspiration and enthusiasm from the present state organic law sadly mutilated through a series of changes most of which have weakened rather than strengthened it. Under the political spree of the last few years, the North Dakota constitution has suffered changes that doubtless have caused some of the fathers of that document to shift positions in time honored graves and others who still walk with us to mark the ravages wrought by ballot.

Nothing could be more fitting than to rivet attention of the masses upon constitutional government. The trend has been away from respect for fixed institutions. Soap box orators have denounced the constitution and radicals everywhere are seeking to nullify the operation of our organic law through limiting the powers of courts to declare certain laws unconstitutional.

Under the direction of the American Bar Association constitution week is being fostered throughout the nation by those who believe that the American plan as conceived by the federal fathers is better than the methods proposed by the extreme school whose motto is to break down constitutional checks and balances and with them representative government, setting up as it were a tyranny of the minority.

There has grown up out of a disrespect for law generally, the familiar adage: "What is the constitution between friends." This week, if its promoters are successful, should awaken a greater respect for the constitution even though the eighteenth amendment has brought its operation closer home than before to many millions who never felt as poignantly as now that the constitution does restrain minority desires presumably for the greater good of the majority.

As long as the prohibition amendment is part of the constitution, its recognition is as binding upon us all as other articles and amendments which guard the fundamental rights and privileges of American citizens.

By all means an earnest study of the constitution this week, but with it a preachment against ill advised and sudden tampering with the organic law to fit every vagary or whim. The present constitution can be amended as rapidly as is advisable, the nineteen amendments and their scope prove that. Those who clamor for direct amendment by ballot are not the friends and upholders of constitutional government. North Dakota's experience in amendment by that route has been anything but beneficial.

The sessions of the American Bar Association in Minneapolis recently deplored sudden and extreme changes at the behest of radicals and theorists and it is to combat this trend that constitutional week is dedicated.

ON THE AVIATION MAP
Through the cooperation of the Association of Commerce, Fort Lincoln may become an aviation station in the transcontinental flights. Yesterday an army aviator made this city one of his controls and the use of the fort for that purpose can be broadened.

Secretary Bradley of the association has been in close touch with these flights and has personally given aviators every assistance so that Bismarck will be known as a city which cooperates in these experiments to perfect the science of aviation.

There are few fields that afford a better landing than Fort Lincoln and the foresight in putting Bismarck on these air routes between coast points may work out more beneficially than appears on the surface now.

GENEROUS AMERICA
Probably the best knockout the pessimists can have who deplore the "inadequacies" of present times is the generous response of America to the call from Japan for relief in the hour of need. Within a few days the quota set by the Red Cross was passed and double would have been forthcoming had the necessity demanded.

There have been many articles in select magazines about the lack of soul in America and the absence of high purposes and noble impulses generally as an aftermath of the war. Greed and selfish individualism have been pictured as America's besetting sins, and then comes an example of charity and good will toward men that knocks these critics off their pedestals.

SYSTEM WRONG
A brick weighs quite a bit and should be manufactured as near as possible to the place where it is used in building. So something is radically wrong with our "system" when three million bricks a month are imported into New York City from foreign countries. That's what has been happening this year.

"Shortage of bricks" is a poor excuse. If we can't even make our own bricks, the outlook for American industry is rather sad when it comes to commodities requiring more intricate manufacturing skill.

MODERN CHANGES
The cable now cannot successfully compete with radio, due to the greater advantage of speed on the part of radio, and also to direct communication. This is said by Owen D. Young, chairman of General Electric Co. and Radio Corporation of America.

It is his natural avocation considering his business connections but a logical truth.
Later it will be discovered that the steam railroad, running on steel tracks cannot compete with the airplane.

STRANGE REQUEST
A doctor in Texarkana, Texas, is buried in his $35,000 coat of Russian sable, furs. Such was his last request. It's an exception to the rule that we can't take our wealth to the grave with us.
The good doctor apparently expected cold weather on the other side of the River Styx.

EDITORIAL REVIEW

Comments reproduced in this column may or may not agree with the views of the Bismarck Tribune. They are presented here in order that our readers may have both sides of important issues which are being discussed in the press of the day.

NORTH DAKOTA IS ALL RIGHT

A few years ago when there was an offering of North Dakota bonds they were looked upon as a drug in the market. There has been a change. During the past week a Minneapolis syndicate offered $1,600,000 in North Dakota bonds and within twenty-four hours all were sold. The fact shows that people have confidence in North Dakota and that the state has regained its former standing in the financial world.

There never was anything the matter with North Dakota, any more than there is with Minnesota or South Dakota, other than the circumstances that placed the administration of the state's affairs in the hands of a group of incompetents and theorists. There was never any question as to the physical ability of the state to back up its bonds and meet all payments, but there was a serious lack of confidence in the state administration. To Governor Nelson and his co-workers must be credited the regeneration of the state's financial credit. One feature that should not be overlooked when North Dakota's financial position is reviewed is that during the short period when it was dominated by the Nonpartisan League there was no advance in its land values as there was in Iowa, Minnesota, South Dakota, and other states. Therefore, there has been no recession, but rather, progression in values. The bonded indebtedness of the state is comparatively small, much smaller than that of the average state. North Dakota has learned a lesson and it is not likely that its bonded indebtedness will ever be allowed to become so great as to be burdensome to its taxpayers. Therein may be found one reason why North Dakota's bonds were so quickly absorbed in the Minneapolis market—Commercial West.

ADVENTURE OF THE TWINS

By Olive Roberts Barton

Mister Gallop, the cowboy fairy, stopped his pony suddenly and motioned to the Twins to do likewise. Then he put his finger over his lips and nodded toward a dead tree that hung crookedly over the mountain path where they were riding. There sat Chatterbox Magpie in his gorgeous coat of black, white and red, acting like a bad school boy. For although Chatterbox is a friend of both mountain folk and plainsmen, he is a mischief maker and a planner of mischief. And just now he was making fun of Misses Gadabout Grouse and her eight brown children.

"Ha, ha, ha! Ho, ho, ho!" laughed Chatterbox in his high, creaky voice. "Why doesn't your husband stay at home, Misses Grouse? It is because you have a bad disposition or are so afraid of your children that you send them away from home. Well, you're just a plain speckled brown, all of you, and when I look down from my perch I can hardly tell you are there. Ground birds, that's what you are! Ugh!"

"Why, we have a good reason for staying on the ground, Mister Magpie," answered Misses Grouse meekly. "It's because we can't fly so very well and, therefore, can't get out of the way of hawks or eagles, or any big bird that might chase us. We know we match the ground and that's why we stay close to it—so we'll be safe."

"Well, then, is it because you gads about so that Mister Grouse doesn't stay at home?" asked Chatterbox curiously. "Is that how you got your name?"

"Oh, no, sir!" said Misses Grouse. "It isn't my name, but my husband's name. I took his name when we were married. It's his name that is Gadabout, not mine. I only go around to get food for my family. But with him it's different."

"Ah, ha!" exclaimed Chatterbox quickly. "So that's it, is it? He is just a sports fellow who won't stay at home. Well, I know there was a scandal somewhere!"

"No, that's not it all!" declared Misses Grouse, indignant at last. He has a good reason for leaving us here alone and going off by himself high in the mountains."

"I'll tell you tomorrow what the Twins heard her say," said Chatterbox. (To Be Continued.) (Copyright, 123, NEA Service, Inc.)

A Thought

Let us eat and drink; for tomorrow we shall die.—Isa. 22:13.

Today is ours; what do we fear? Today is ours; we have it here! Let's treat it kindly, that it may wish, at least, with us to stay.—COWLEY.

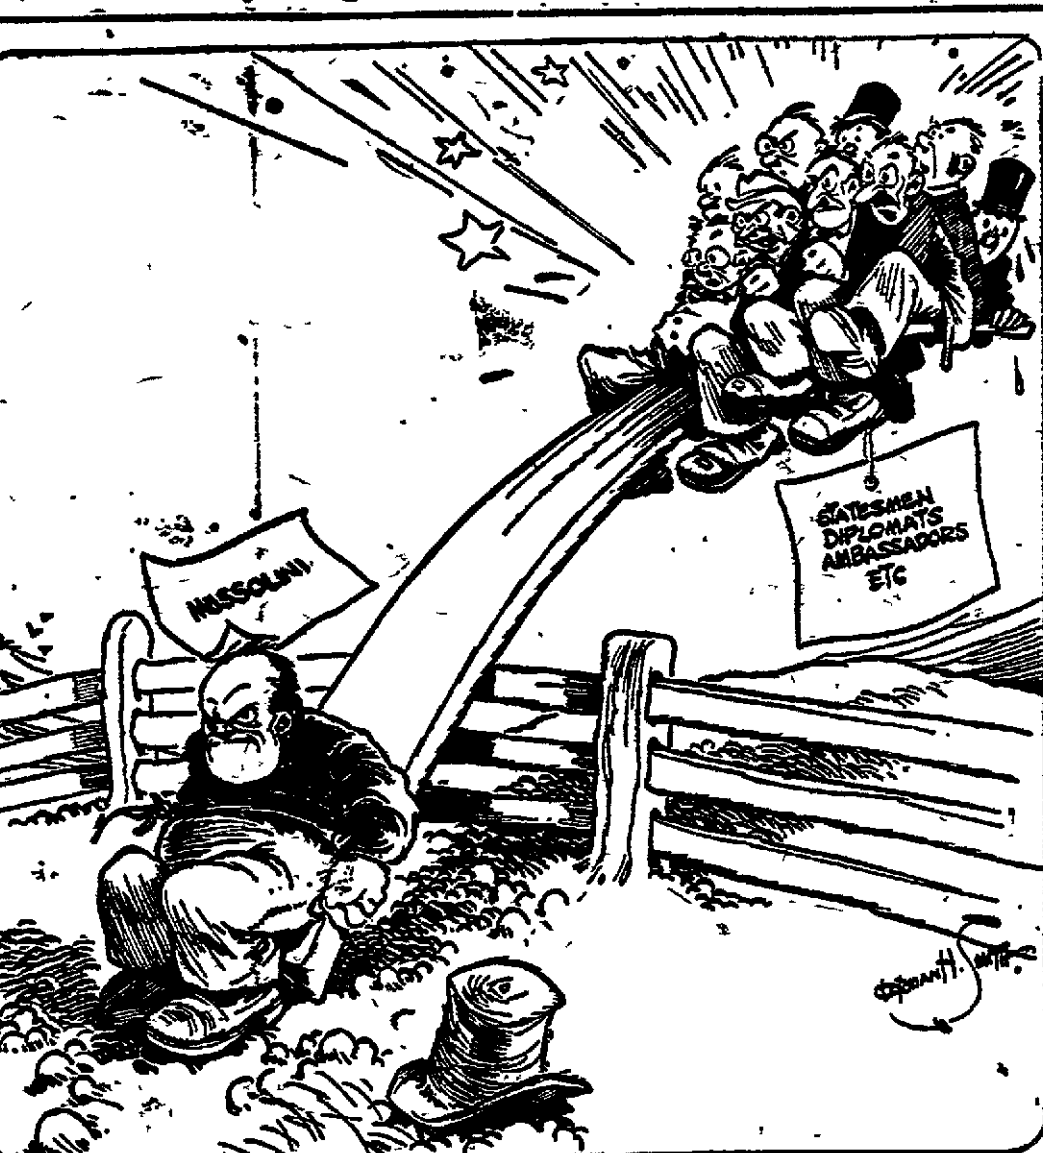

ART THIEVES ARE BUSY IN GERMANY

Munich, Sept. 13.—Burglars recently riddled the villa of the late Franz von Lenbach, painter of the wall in the Bismarck picture who has been dead for 30 years, and stole a number of valuable masterpieces. These included a picture of Franz Hals called "The Laughing Boys," two pictures by Tonnars, an original sketch by Rubens, and a number of paintings by Lucas Cranach and other celebrated artists.

ELECTRIC ANGLING

London, Sept. 13.—Electric light as an aid to sea angling is being experimented with at Sandown, Isle of Wight. A London merchant resident there takes an accumulator with him in his boat at night and lowers the light into about 24 feet of water near the bait. It attracts some kinds of fish.

LETTER FROM BEATRICE GRIM-SHAW TO LESLIE PRESCOTT

I wonder if you have seen the last "Filmland," my dear? It had a very interesting story in it about a young woman called Paula Perier, of whom I asked you in my last letter. She seems to have made quite a name for herself in Hollywood. Dick writes me that she is a beauty, spirituality and intellect. He seems quite taken with her talent. It is a queer kind of life that Dick has been hurled into out there, Leslie. From what he writes me I can see that everyone is living up to his last ounce of nervous energy.

Dick's letters do not seem like Dick at all—my Dick, whom I have always thought was the very essence of calmness and contentment—I can see he is getting all mixed up in his ideas. His thoughts and conclusions are as jerky as the sentences in his letters. Sometimes, Leslie dear, I'm very sorry that I either did not go with Dick to "Los," as he calls it, or else persuade him to stay here. You see, he said he would do just as I wanted him to in the matter. He left it to me, Leslie, but I, knowing that he wanted to go very badly, of course said "go."

Why is it, Leslie, that a loving woman, if she is called upon to decide a question for her man, always waits until she knows what he wants to do and then tells him that is the thing for him? I thought at the time that my only objection to the whole scheme was the long, lonely three months I would have to spend before I could join Dick. I know now that in the back of my head was always a feeling that when the time came for me to join him, it would be like joining a stranger. He has gone into a different world, a world where people think differently. Indeed their whole trend of action as well as thought is away from the prosaic and commonplace.

Perhaps you are saying, Leslie dear, that I am a little bit afraid to have my Dick out there among those pretty girls. We hear so much about this "sex appeal." Even Dick has got the jargon of the screen and he writes me that this or that girl will "make a good picture actress," that she has no sex appeal. "What what it is I do not know, but it seems to me that the word might be made synonymous with feminine personality. You know I have never posed as a beauty and I have dreamed that Dick cared for me because of my mind. I wonder if there is a personal magnetism that makes a greater appeal than does a clear mind and sympathetic spirit?"

"Oh, Leslie, Leslie, like poor Dick I am all mixed up."

Your loving, ... BEE.

Worry Over Oil Investments Is Cause of Suicide

Carrington, N. D., Sept. 13.—Worry that friends might sustain financial losses from investments in an oil well he had recommended is believed by friends and hospital attaches to have caused the death of Bernard Larson, 64, Foster county pioneer, at Carrington. Even though the well eventually came in he apparently could not rally from apprehension that his friends had deserted him. He had homesteaded near Glenfield, Foster county. Later he moved to Carrington, and he migrated to Saskatchewan about 20 years ago. He acquired considerable land and other wealth there, was reputed as a successful business man, and served several terms in the Saskatchewan provincial assembly. Many prominent officials of the province attended his funeral.

HIGH TEAM READY FOR ALUMNI WED.

After Three Days of Strim-
mage Team Is in Good
Condition For Game
TRAINING SCHOOL NEXT
Valley City Comes Here on
September 29; Expect
Fast Game

The High School football team is all ready for its game with the Alumni tomorrow night at 4 o'clock according to Coach Houser. After three days of scrimmage, Coach Houser feels confident that his team is competent to make a good showing in their first real test. Yesterday was given over to rest because of the rain and the High School team is in excellent condition. Tomorrow's game should be a fast hard game, according to Houser because the Alumni are getting together all of the stars of previous years and with the extra practice gained through the postponement of the game from last Saturday until tomorrow, they should be in the best condition possible. With tomorrow's game as the first test of the ability of the team Coach Houser will be able to pick the weak spots and rearrange his team so as to make it stronger when they meet the State Training School next Saturday. Following the game with the Training School there is a full week in which Coach Houser can perfect his line and backfield before he sends the team up against Valley City in the first game which counts in the teams standing in the state high school football circles.

BRUSH FIRE SWEEPS INTO HEART OF CITY

The University of California was threatened from two sides at once. Ten injured were brought into the Berkeley general hospital but only two remain there. They are elderly women whose homes were destroyed. They are suffering from shock.

Dynamiting was resorted to in an effort to stem the flames' progress toward buildings of the University of California. Among homes reduced to ashes are those of Benjamin Ida Wheeler, president emerita of the university, and John Howard Taylor, architect. Fraternity houses consumed include the Tau Kappa Epsilon, Alpha Tau Omega, Phi Kappa Sigma and Theta Phi. Among the sorority houses destroyed were the Zeta Tau, Alpha Theta and the Zeta Tau, Alpha Theta.

Russian River summer resort towns were threatened and some of them were destroyed. Guerneville at one time was surrounded on three sides by a forest fire that began near the largest redwood grove near San Francisco. The population of Guerneville was prepared to leave their homes and had placed their valuables in a boxcar which was being held by the Northwestern Pacific railroad for emergency. A total of 15,000 acres in the California national forest, of which 5,000 acres are timberland, is on fire, according to a report issued here tonight by District Forester Paul G. Redington.

The Santa Barbara fire is still out of control, and is being fanned by heavy northwest winds, said Mr. Redington. "However, Santa Barbara fire fighters think they will have the fire under control in about three days."

Two bad fires have been started in the Trinity forest, in northern California. A well has just been received here from the forest supervisor for additional help, and we are sending fire fighters to the upper lake district tonight. These fires are out of control, and are being made worse by the heavy winds."

SAN FRANCISCO HELPS.
San Francisco, Sept. 18.—San Francisco responded to Berkeley's appeal for help late yesterday, and Fire Chief Murphy ordered several engines and chemicals to the scene under the command of a battalion chief. The San Francisco equipment was due to arrive at Berkeley about 4:30 o'clock.

BARRACKS FLOODED.
San Francisco, Sept. 18.—Temporary barracks were flooded during a terrific storm Saturday and 5,000 reported missing, forest brush, and grass fire fanned by north wind and fed by undergrowth raged in nearly every county in Northern California.

Several resorts and towns were severely damaged or destroyed by the flames which sprang into being in several instances almost without warning and quickly spread beyond the control of the forest, state fire wardens, and hundreds of volunteer fire fighters.

Eldorado, a small mining town in Eldorado county was virtually destroyed and 150 persons residing there were forced to flee, the inhabitants of Colusa and Placer county also prepared to flee when the town was threatened. Woodacre, a picturesque little village 10 miles from San Rafael, was reported almost destroyed by a forest fire which swept Lucas valley.

One hundred soldiers and marines were sent from Marine naval island to fight flames at Cordelia, 20 miles from the navy yards yesterday. FORCED TO REFUSE
The Oakland fire department was forced to refuse a request from the Berkeley department for aid because of a threatening fire in the vicinity of Mills College which consumed three residences. The University of California buildings were in the path of the flames in Berkeley.

FLIERS FIGHT WEATHER ON FAST FLIGHT

Forced Down in Montana by Drizzling Rain and Dense
Fogs
CARRY JAP PICTURES

Still Hoping to Set Record
After Two Days of Hard Luck

"We have surely had our share of hard luck on this trip but we are still flying," were the words of Lieutenant Victor Bertrand, one of the fliers of the Navy DeHavilland which passed through the city yesterday enroute from Seattle to New York on an attempted record transcontinental flight. After stopping for fifty eight minutes in the city the fliers took off, headed for Minneapolis, where they planned to spend last night.

Flying from Seattle, Wash., to Manhattan, Mont., over the Rocky Mountains and being forced to land at Manhattan by a drizzling rain and a heavy fog which made it impossible to see land from the heavens was the hard luck referred to by the lieutenant. Leaving Seattle after the arrival of a host from Japan, which carried pictures of the Tokio disaster carry mats of the pictures of the disaster for eastern newspapers, these two pilots started on what they hope to make a record flight from coast to coast. After about ten hours in the air the pilots were forced down, this being their first stop. They stayed overnight in Manhattan, planning to leave there about 5:30 yesterday a. m. but were delayed until six. After six hours in the air they landed here and were met by A. F. Bradley of the Association of Commerce who had been waiting for them. Gasoline was loaded into the machine, fifty five gallons being necessary to fill the tank. Two gallons of oil were also taken on.

"You have one of the best landing fields in the country," said Lieut. Garrett, "and it ought to be easily possible for the city to get aid from the government in the building of hangars and the outfitting of the field with night lights." Both fliers said that they would do all they could to get Bismarck recognized as a government landing field and to get the government to put in the necessary equipment. "With aviation becoming as common as it is, and with a proposed mail route to run from Chicago to Seattle over a northern route which takes in Bismarck it would really be economy for the government to build a hangar and put in equipment for a landing field here. Bismarck is just a good days flight from Chicago and surely would be the best place for an overnight stop for the mail service," said Lieut. Garrett just before hopping off for the east.

Lieutenant Bertrand and Lieutenant Garrett are, unofficially, carrying the first picture of the Tokio disaster to reach this coast. The first packet of these pictures will be dropped in Minneapolis and the rest are being taken to Chicago.

WEALTH IS MEASURED IN REINDEERS

Laplenders Consider Number of Reindeers Owned an Index to Wealth

Narvik, Norway, Sept. 18.—Never ask a Laplander how many reindeer he owns, is in the initial bit of advice which Dr. W. H. Gant, of Baltimore, has to offer travelers who wander off the beaten path and invade the primitive territory occupied by the Laplanders. This question is equal to asking an American the size of his salary, or the extent of his holdings in stocks and bonds. Riches with the Lap are measured in reindeer. Some few of them, the Henry Fords of the Arctic circle, have as many as 3,000 animals, but they still talk about their wealth.

Sweden has protected the Lap against invasion and exemption from taxation, so they are able to carry on their life in Northern Sweden much as their ancestors did centuries ago. Their villages are extremely primitive and mobile. Families follow their flocks into the mountains in the summer and wander back again into the lowlands in the winter. One elderly Laplander told Dr. Gant with great pride that he has a son living in America who recently eloped with an extremely wealthy girl and married her. The young Laplander was serving as chauffeur when he and his employer's daughter became enamored of each other and found an accommodating justice of the peace before the angry father caught up with them.

UNHEEDED SCREAMS.
Brighton, Eng., Sept. 18.—It was brought out at an inquest on Doris Kate Billings and Elsie Kane, girls of 19, both of whom were drowned, that a workman who heard them scream took no notice because he said screaming was usual with people in bathing.

EX-KAISER WANTS MORE SECLUSION

Erects Screen to Prevent Passers to See Him in His Garden

Doorn, Sept. 18.—Instead of time softening the seclusion of the former German emperor, he is about to retire even more completely from the gaze of the sightseer, for he has ordered the erection of a barricade to prevent his residence from being overlooked from the high road. The framework for the new screen, which is eight feet high, will successfully prevent anyone from getting even a fleeting glimpse of the fretful monarch as he walks in his garden.

The recent publicity given to a bonfire celebration in the grounds of Doorn House is said to have been the motive for the greater privacy.

TELLS HOW TO SAVE ARTESIAN WELLS IN N. D.

Consulting Engineer Gives
Results of Survey of 5,000
Wells in State

URGES CONSERVATION
Teachers Farmers That Flow
Can be Regulated and Wells Preserved

"The only way to prevent the complete loss of the 5,000 artesian wells in North Dakota is by first drilling and sealing the wells rightly, then reducing the flow by valves as in a city water supply," said Herbert A. Hard consulting engineer to the United States government who has just completed survey in Dickey, La. Moore, and Stutsman counties together with Chief O. E. Meinzer of the United States Water resources of Washington D. C. and Prof. Simpson of the University.

A week was spent by the engineers in hand tests on a number of wells determining the pressure, flow and amount of wastage and helping the farmers to get the wells under control. "It is very gratifying to now have the department of interior send its chief water man to aid us in our efforts to salvage some five millions of dollars worth of flowing wells," said Mr. Hard who has spent six years working on artesian conservation.

Six years ago when I drew the Artesian well bill which has since been enacted into law some few belittled the need or said it was impossible to control the wells and stop waste," asserted Mr. Hard, "but now all agree that it is a vital need. This is vouched for by State Well Inspector Turnbaugh in his summer's duties in the artesian well belt which includes the Mouse and Little Missouri valleys from Jamestown to Forbes and the South Dakota state line.

Until six years ago the farmers had been taught by some drillers that the well would cease to flow and be ruined if the flow were reduced or put under control. As a matter of fact, if the driller has done his work right, sealed his casing and pipes, the well may be put under control in nearly all cases and must be so controlled, it was said, to preserve the flow.

Mr. Hard declared that the farmers had responded well to the newer

REFUTES CHARGE AGAINST LEAGUE'S COMPETENCY

Geneva, Sept. 18.—(By the A. P.)—Former Premier Salandra of Italy addressing the Council of the League of Nations today refused to acknowledge that the question of the League's competency in the Greco-Italian dispute could be raised because the incident had been settled. He said flatly Italy, however, would agree that the question of the Geno interpretation of the covenant be left to authorized persons. This was presumed to mean the permanent court of international judges.

DISCUSS ARTICLE X
The famous article X of the covenant, which was the main subject of debate in the United States senate when the question of American adherence was before the American public, furnished renewed interest before the commission on amendments to the covenant, when Senor Alvarez, the Chilean diplomat presented a powerful defense of the Monroe doctrine, which he declared was worth more to the American states than Article X of the covenant ever could be. And this was so, he emphasized, because the American naval and military forces stood ready to enforce this doctrine, which forbade any European state from interfering in a territorial sense in the affairs of the American continent. There occurred a lively discussion on the question of the proposed pact for mutual assistance which the commission in the reduction of armaments will later submit to the assembly. It is a project aimed at the prevention of war.

CHILE'S SUPPORT
Chile's support of the Monroe doctrine came when the subcommittee presented a resolution founded on the Canadian amendment and calculated to interpret precisely the celebrated article X, which the Venezuelan delegate said during the course of the debate constituted the real reason why the United States really did not subscribe to the league covenant.

The resolution, which was warmly supported by M. Rolin, Belgian jurist, and others, set for that the council must take into account the geographical and special conditions of each state if it believed military measures should be resorted to because of aggression and that the parliamentary authorities of each country must decide to what extent, if any, they should help to preserve another country's independence. There were many references to former President Wilson and the United States during the discussion, which eventually was adjourned. The French delegate asked that all make haste slowly as he deemed article X the heart of the covenant which should be changed, if at all, with the greatest care.

advice of the state engineers and inspectors and hundreds of wells now have valves or reducers to limit the flow and cut waste. Chief Meinzer estimated that 95 per cent of all water flowing is actually wasted.

"South Dakota has about 10,000 wells flowing, and it is the purpose of the federal and state officials to conserve the efforts to conserve this great national asset," said Mr. Meinzer. He reiterated the statements of the state officials "that the original flow and pressure of the wells may not be restored, but that concerted action on part of farmers and drillers, cooperating with federal and state officers, may readily stop the decline, and hold the water at the present level of efficiency."

Refutes Charge
Against League's Competency
Geneva, Sept. 18.—(By the A. P.)—Former Premier Salandra of Italy addressing the Council of the League of Nations today refused to acknowledge that the question of the League's competency in the Greco-Italian dispute could be raised because the incident had been settled. He said flatly Italy, however, would agree that the question of the Geno interpretation of the covenant be left to authorized persons. This was presumed to mean the permanent court of international judges.

DISCUSS ARTICLE X
The famous article X of the covenant, which was the main subject of debate in the United States senate when the question of American adherence was before the American public, furnished renewed interest before the commission on amendments to the covenant, when Senor Alvarez, the Chilean diplomat presented a powerful defense of the Monroe doctrine, which he declared was worth more to the American states than Article X of the covenant ever could be. And this was so, he emphasized, because the American naval and military forces stood ready to enforce this doctrine, which forbade any European state from interfering in a territorial sense in the affairs of the American continent. There occurred a lively discussion on the question of the proposed pact for mutual assistance which the commission in the reduction of armaments will later submit to the assembly. It is a project aimed at the prevention of war.

CHILE'S SUPPORT
Chile's support of the Monroe doctrine came when the subcommittee presented a resolution founded on the Canadian amendment and calculated to interpret precisely the celebrated article X, which the Venezuelan delegate said during the course of the debate constituted the real reason why the United States really did not subscribe to the league covenant.

The resolution, which was warmly supported by M. Rolin, Belgian jurist, and others, set for that the council must take into account the geographical and special conditions of each state if it believed military measures should be resorted to because of aggression and that the parliamentary authorities of each country must decide to what extent, if any, they should help to preserve another country's independence. There were many references to former President Wilson and the United States during the discussion, which eventually was adjourned. The French delegate asked that all make haste slowly as he deemed article X the heart of the covenant which should be changed, if at all, with the greatest care.

HIGH TEAM READY FOR ALUMNI WED.

After Three Days of Strim-
mage Team Is in Good
Condition For Game

TRAINING SCHOOL NEXT

Valley City Comes Here on
September 29; Expect
Fast Game

The High School football team is all ready for its game with the Alumni tomorrow night at 4 o'clock according to Coach Houser. After but three days of scrimmages, Coach Houser feels confident that his team is competent to make a good showing in their first real test. Yesterday was given over to rest because of the rain and the High School team is in excellent condition. Tomorrow's game should be a fast hard game, according to Houser because the Alumni are getting together all of the stars of previous years and with the extra practice gained through the postponement of the game from last Saturday until tomorrow, they should be in the best condition possible.

With tomorrow's game as the first test of the ability of the team Coach Houser will be able to pick the weak spots and reorganize his team so as to make it stronger when they meet the State Training School next Saturday.

Following the game with the Training School there is a full week in which Coach Houser can perfect his line and backfield before he sends the team up against Valley City in the first game which counts in the team's standing in the state high school football circles.

Geo. Kelly Proves Himself
Master of Bat in Game
Against Cubs

Chicago, Sept. 18.—George Kelly, the Giant's first baseman drove out three homers in succession, a two-bagger and a single in five times at bat yesterday in Chicago against the Cubs, who went down to defeat, 13 to 6. Such a feat has never before been accomplished in major league baseball.

O'Farrell and Meusel also hit homers.

The New York Yankees who need just one more victory to assure their appearance in the World series, failed to come across going down to defeat by Cleveland, 6 to 2.

The Pittsburgh Pirates were defeated by Boston, 6 to 1. Cincinnati did not play, clinging to second place.

The Boston Red Sox broke even with Chicago White Sox in Boston losing first 6 to 1, and winning the second 6 to 1. Washington defeated St. Louis twice 5 to 4 and 12 to 2, the latter game was called in the seventh inning because of darkness.

Walter Johnson pitched both games. The Senators elected a total of 31 hits in the two games.

The Detroit Tigers lost a double header to Philadelphia in Philadelphia, the home team winning by a 2 to 0 and 1 to 3.

St. Louis defeated the Philadelphia Nationals, 6 to 5, making it four out of five for the series.

President Veech, president of the Chicago Nationals, present champions, accepted the challenge of President Comiskey of the Chicago White Sox.

The University of California was threatened from two sides at once. Ten injured were brought into the Berkeley general hospital but only two remain there. They are elderly women whose homes were destroyed. They are suffering from shock.

Dynamite was resorted to in an effort to stem the flames' progress toward buildings of the University of California.

Among homes reduced to ashes are those of Benjamin Ida Wheeler, president emeritus of the university, and John Howard Taylor, architect. Fraternity houses consumed include the Tau Kappa Epsilon, Alpha Tau Omega, Phi Kappa Sigma and Theta Phi. Among the sorority houses destroyed were the Zeta Tau, Alpha Zeta and the Zeta Tau, Alpha Zeta.

Russian River summer resort towns were threatened and some of them were destroyed. Guerneville at one time was surrounded on three sides by a forest fire that began near the largest redwood grove near San Francisco. The population of Guerneville was prepared to leave their homes and had placed their valuables in a boxcar which was being held by the Northwestern Pacific railroad for emergency.

A total of 15,000 acres in the California national forest, of which 5,000 acres are timberland, is on fire, according to a report issued here tonight by District Forester Paul G. Gedding.

"The Santa Barbara fire is still out of control, and is being fanned by heavy northwest winds," said Mr. Gedding. "However, Santa Barbara fire fighters think they will have the fire under control in about three days."

"Two bad fires have been started in the Trinity forest, in northern California. A cell has just been received here. The forest supervisor for additional help, and we are sending fire fighters to the upper lake district tonight. These fires are out of control, and are being made worse by the heavy winds."

SAN FRANCISCO HELPS. San Francisco, Sept. 18.—San Francisco responded to Berkeley's appeal for help yesterday, and Fire Chief Murphy ordered several engines and chemicals to the scene under the command of a battalion chief. The San Francisco equipment was due to arrive at Berkeley about 4:30 o'clock.

BARRACKS FLOODED. San Francisco, Sept. 18.—Temporary barracks were flooded during a terrific storm Saturday and 5,000 reported missing, forest brush, and grass fires, fanned by north wind and fed by undergrowth raged in nearly every county in Northern California.

Several resorts and towns were severely damaged or destroyed by the flames which sprang into being in several instances almost without warning and quickly spread beyond the control of the forester, state fire wardens, and hundreds of volunteer fire fighters.

Eldorado, a small mining town in Eldorado county was virtually destroyed and 150 persons residing there were forced to flee when the town was threatened by a forest fire.

Woodacre, a picturesque little village 10 miles from San Rafael, was reported almost destroyed by a forest fire which swept Lucas valley.

One hundred sailors and marines were sent from Maize naval island to fight flames at Cordelia, 20 miles from the navy yards yesterday.

FORCED TO REFUSE. The Oakland fire department was forced to refuse a request from the Berkeley department for aid because of a threatening fire in the vicinity of Mills College which consumed three residences. The University of California buildings were in the path of the flames in Berkeley.

In Placer, Eldorado, Solano, Napa and eight other counties brush and forest fires burned over thousands of acres and destroyed ranch houses.

The town of Eldorado was virtually surrounded late today by a fire that had destroyed the Hill Hotel and several other buildings. The people of Eldorado, numbering about 150 were in flight. Telephone connections to the countryside between Eldorado and Diamond Springs was on fire at last reports. Aid from Placerville was sent to Eldorado.

Fire Beyond Control. The forest fire in the Santa Ynez mountain range in Santa Barbara county took a new lease on life and got beyond control of the exhausted fire fighters who have been working for three weeks. A call was sent out by forest rangers to Los Angeles for help. More than 70 square miles have been burned over. Grain and pasture lands were laid waste by a fire which swept over 75 square miles of country before the flames were brought under control.

REPORT ON FATALITIES. Brighten, Eng., Sept. 18.—It was brought out at an inquest on Doris Kate Billings and Elsie Kane, girls of 19, both of whom were drowned, that a workman who heard them scream took no notice because he said screaming was usual with people in bathing.

FLIERS FIGHT WEATHER ON FAST FLIGHT

Forced Down in Montana by Drizzling Rain and Dense Fogs.

CARRY JAP PICTURES

Still Hoping to Set Record After Two Days of Hard Luck

"We have surely had our share of hard luck on this trip but we are still flying," were the words of Lieutenant Victor Bertrand, one of the fliers of the Navy DeHavilland which passed through the city yesterday enroute from Seattle to New York on an attempted record transcontinental flight. After stopping for fifty eight minutes in the city the fliers took off, headed for Minneapolis, where they planned to spend last night.

Flying from Seattle, Wash., to Manhattan, Mont. over the Rocky Mountains and being forced to land at Manhattan by a drizzling rain and a heavy fog which made it impossible to see land from the heavens was the hard luck referred to by the lieutenant.

Leaving Seattle after the arrival of a boat from Japan, which brought pictures of the Tokyo disaster carry hints of the pictures of the disaster for eastern newspapers, these two pilots started on what they hope to make a record flight from coast to coast. After about ten hours in the air the pilots were forced down, this being their first stop. They stayed overnight in Manhattan, planning to leave there about 5:30 yesterday a. m. but were delayed until six. After six hours in the air they landed here and were met by A. P. Bradley of the Association of Commerce who had hot coffee for them. Gasoline was loaded into the machine, fifty five gallons being necessary to fill the tank. Two gallons of oil were also taken on.

"You have one of the best landing fields in the country," said Lieut. Garrett, "and it ought to be easily possible for the city to get aid from the government in the building of hangars and the outfitting of the field with night lights." Both fliers said that they would do all they could to get Bismarck recognized as a government landing field and to get the government to put in the necessary equipment. "With aviation becoming as common as it is, and with a proposed mail route to run from Chicago to Seattle and on to northern routes which takes in Bismarck it would really be economy for the government to build a hangar and put in equipment for a landing field here. Bismarck is just a good days flight from Chicago and surely would be the best place for an overnight stop for the mail service," said Lieut. Garrett just before hopping off for the east.

Lieutenant Bertrand and Lieut. Garrett are, unofficially, carrying the first picture of the Tokyo disaster to reach this country back to the east. The first packet of these pictures will be dropped in Minneapolis and the rest are being taken to Chicago.

WEALTH IS MEASURED IN REINDEERS

Laplenders Consider Number of Reindeers Owned an Index to Wealth

Narvik, Norway, Sept. 18.—Never ask a Laplander how many reindeer he owns, is in the initial bit of advice which Dr. W. E. Gantt, of Baltimore, has to offer travelers who wander off the beaten path and invade the primitive territory occupied by the Laplanders. This question is the equal to asking an American the size of his salary, or the extent of his holdings in stocks and bonds. Riches with the Laps are measured in reindeer. Some few of them, the Henry Ford of the Arctic circle, have as many as 3,000 animals, but they dislike talking about their wealth.

Sweden has protected the Laps against invasion and exempted them from taxation, so they are able to carry on their life in Northern Sweden much as their ancestors did centuries ago. Their villages are extremely primitive and mobile. Families follow their flocks into the mountains in the summer and wander again into the lowlands in the winter.

One elderly Laplander told Dr. Gantt with great pride that he has a son living in America who recently closed with an extremely wealthy girl and married her. The young Laplander was serving as chauffeur when he and his employer's daughter became enamored of each other and found an accommodating justice of the peace before the angry father caught up with them.

UNHEEDED SCREAMS. Brighton, Eng., Sept. 18.—It was brought out at an inquest on Doris Kate Billings and Elsie Kane, girls of 19, both of whom were drowned, that a workman who heard them scream took no notice because he said screaming was usual with people in bathing.

EX-KAISER WANTS MORE SECLUSION

Errects Screen to Prevent Passers to See Him in His Garden

Doorn, Sept. 18.—Instead of time softening the recollection of the former German emperor, he is about to retire even more completely from the gaze of the sightseer, for he has ordered the erection of a barricade to prevent his residences from being overlooked from the high road. The framework for the new screen, which is eight feet high, will successfully prevent anyone from getting even a fleeting glimpse of the feudal monarch as he walks in his garden.

The recent publicity given to a bonfire celebration in the grounds of Doorn House is said to have been the motive for the greater privacy.

TELLS HOW TO SAVE ARTESIAN WELLS IN N. D.

Consulting Engineer Gives Results of Survey of 5,000 Wells in State

URGES CONSERVATION
Teachers Farmers That Flow Can be Regulated and Wells Preserved

"The only way to prevent the complete loss of the 5,000 artesian wells in North Dakota is by first drilling and sealing the wells rightly, then reducing the flow by valves as in a city water supply," said Herbert A. Hard, consulting engineer to the United States government, who has just completed survey in Dickey, La. Moore, and Stutsman counties together with Chief O. E. Meinzer of the United States Water resources of Washington D. C. and Prof. Simpson of the University.

A week was spent by the engineers in hand tests on a number of wells determining the pressure, flow and amount of waste and helping the farmers to get the wells under control.

"It is very gratifying to now have the department of interior send its chief water man to aid us in our efforts to salvage some five millions of dollars worth of flowing wells," said Mr. Hard who has spent six years working on artesian conservation.

Six years ago when I drew the Artesian well bill which has since been enacted into law some few belittled the need or said it was impossible to control the wells and stop waste," asserted Mr. Hard, "but now all agree that it is a vital need. This is vouched for by State Well Inspector Turnbaugh as his summer's duties in the artesian well belt which includes the Mouse and Little Missouri valleys from Jamestown to Bismarck and the South Dakota line.

Until six years ago the farmers had been taught by some drillers that the well would cease to flow and be ruined if the flow were reduced or put under control. As a matter of fact, if the driller has done his work right, sealed his casing and pipes, the well may be put under control in nearly all cases and must be so controlled, it was said, to preserve the flow.

Mr. Hard declared that the farmers had responded well to the newer
